

CHARLES H. LINDLEY RETIRES

Charles H. Lindley has retired from the firm of Rieger and Lindley and after spending a few weeks with his family in California, will return here to give his attention to other business interests.

Mr. Lindley has been in this city over twenty years and during that time, has won an enviable position, personally and in the business life of the city. He has always been a builder and producer, a hard worker and is one of the city's most energetic business men, highly thought of and respected by all who have become in contact with him. His friends are legion and are wishing him all kinds of success in any new undertaking with which he becomes identified.

HALLORAN-JUDGE CO. INCREASE

On account of the increase in business of the Halloran-Judge Loan & Trust company in the loan and trust department, and in order to take care of the same, and to conduct a trust business, the Halloran-Judge Loan & Trust company has determined upon a material increase in its capitalization, and has secured as its trust officer, Wesley King, former district manager for the Aetna Accident and Liability company and joint owner of the Wesley King Agency Co., general agents for the liability department of the Aetna Life Insurance company for the intermountain states. Mr. King has purchased a substantial interest in the Halloran-Judge Loan & Trust company and will become one of its officers and directors. He will have the management of the trust department of the business.

It is expected that the Halloran-Judge Loan & Trust company will increase its capital and elect officers at its January meeting.

FRED C. RICHMOND, PRESIDENT

Fred C. Richmond of the Richmond Machinery company and one of the most prominent members of the Commercial club, closely identified with the progress of the organization was elected president of the club early in the week, George A. Steiner having resigned. Mr. Steiner has been called east on business that will necessitate his absence for several months and in tendering his resignation he gave as his reason that he was under the impression that it would serve the best interests of the club if he made way for some one who could give more time to the matter.

Besides being a prominent member of the club, Mr. Hammond who has made his home here for nearly twenty years, is prominently identified with the business interests of the city. He is personally popular and a man who enjoys the confidence of everyone. The new choice is an excellent one and presages continued progress for the organization.

RATHER PERSONAL

During the holidays our old friend Lulu Shepard celebrated the gladsome occasion by filing a suit for divorce against Edward E. Shepard, claiming desertion, beginning on October, 1914, and failure to provide. The defendant admits the service on December 31, and waives the right to answer the complaint. George F. Goodwin whose views concerning the liquor question exactly coincide with Mrs. Shepard's, is her attorney.

So apparently, all is not smooth sailing in the lives of "reformers" any more than it is in the existence of common ordinary beings. It is a matter of some surprise, however, to note that the charge is desertion, for how any husband, no
